Terms of Use/Disclaimer

§ 1 Subject

(1) All users of the database for binding site comparison “Prospects” made available in the form of open source automatically accept these general terms of use. The database is made available by downloading it from the homepage of TU Dortmund’s chair “Medizinische Chemie”, by email or in another way by the licenser. The database was created in the context of a Kekulé Mobility Fellowship of the Chemical Industry Fund.

(2) Subject-matter of this license is the granting of a right to use to the database according to § 2 without consideration. The license is concluded by downloading the database or other receipt by licensee through the licenser. The database is targeted to evaluate software and methods for binding site comparisons. The use of the software/methods for binding site comparison is not subject of the license.

(3) Technische Universität Dortmund, August-Schmidt-Straße 4, 44227 Dortmund, Germany, represented by its Rector, Univ.-Prof. Dr. Dr. h.c. Ursula Gather, performing department: Dr. Oliver Koch, Faculty of Chemistry and Chemical Biology, chair “Medizinische Chemie” is the licenser.

(4) Every legal entity downloading the database or receiving it per email or in another way by licenser is a licensee. Thereby licensee accepts the terms of this database contract/license.

(5) The subject of the license consists of the provided database.

§ 2 License, Publications by the licensee

(1) The licenser hereby grants the licensee a non-exclusive right to use the database worldwide without consideration, to copy and modify it internally only to this purpose.

(2) Additional rights are not granted. Especially the licensee is not entitled to grant sub-licenses or to pass it to thirds parties partly or completely or to grant a right to use to third parties.

(3) This license does not comprise further developments of the database by the licenser.

(4) In case licensee publishes results or findings, generated by using the software, licensee shall refer to its use by citing the relevant publication (doi: xxxxx) in their publications explicitly.

§ 3 Access to the software

(1) The licenser gives access to the software by download, by email or in another way freely chosen by licenser. The licenser is not obligated to supply the licensee with a documentation or a user guide for the database or to support the licensee in the use of the database.
The licensee bears all risks of the download and all costs and risks of the use. The licensee is responsible for the database availability in its institution, its installation, its conduction, its adaptation and its deletion.

Place of performance is the place of business of the licenser.

§ 4 Liability

(1) The licenser does not represent or warrant, nor does the licenser assume any liability for the technical feasibility, technical utility, academic usability, completeness of the database and/or for damage and consequential damage caused by the database. The licenser does not ensure any characteristics of the software.

(2) The licenser does not represent and/or warrant that no third party rights exist which might prevent the use of the database or that no third party rights would be infringed by said use.

(3) Especially licensor does not represent or warrant that the access of the database and its use by the licensee is possible, continuous or without defect. The licensee uses the database as it is. The licensor shall not be liable for any possible defects of the database and/or for defects as a manufacturer might be under a theory of products liability. Licensee shall indemnify and hold licensor harmless against any third party claim relating to the database.

(4) The liability limitations are only applicable if the licensor does not cause the damage with intent or gross negligence or if the damage is not the violation of body, life and health or the licensor does not cause the damage by violation of a cardinal obligation. A cardinal obligation is an obligation that is needed for performing under this agreement and each party expects to be complied with. In case of simple / normal violation of a cardinal obligation the licensor’s liability is limited to the damage that is foreseeable and typical in the frame of this Agreement.

§ 5 Miscellaneous

(1) To the extent a provision or section of this Agreement is invalid, unenforceable, void or contains a gap, whether in whole or in part, the remaining provisions or sections of this Agreement shall remain unaffected thereby. The provision or section which is invalid, unenforceable, void, or contains a gap shall be deemed to be replaced by a provision which has the closest result that the parties were attempting to achieve by the invalid or unenforceable provision.

(2) This Agreement shall be governed by the laws of the Federal Republic of Germany excluding the rules on private international law and US-Law.

(3) The business place of the licensor in Germany shall have exclusive jurisdiction for all disputes arising out or in connection with this Agreement.

(4) In case of a discrepancy between the terms of use/Disclaimer in German and in English language the German provisions have priority.
